SUMMARY

I am a Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Law at the University of Copenhagen. My research lies at the intersection of Private Law and Law and Economics, with a focus on contracts, torts, civil procedure, and the quantification of damages in complex commercial cases. My work applies economic theory and methods to questions of legal reasoning. I publish under Rasmus Arler Bogetoft, Rasmus Arler Kamstrup Bogetoft, Rasmus Kamstrup Bogetoft, and Rasmus A. K. Bogetoft.
